

Lazard

Lazard is a significantly different investment bank.

Lazard is a pre-eminent international investment bank committed to helping its clients – corporations, partnerships, institutions, governments and individuals – achieve their strategic goals. Lazard's success results from its focus on providing clients with superior advice and generating creative solutions to complex problems.

As a privately-held investment bank, with a longstanding global perspective, its judgement is not unduly influenced by outside pressures, and solutions for clients are based on the Firm's decades of experience coupled with a culture that demands keen intellectual insight from its professionals.

Organised into four major areas: Investment Banking, Asset Management, Capital Markets, and Alternative Investments, Lazard is considered a leader in each of these disciplines globally.

The Bank knows that the quality of services it provides is above all defined by the individuals who deliver them and invests significant time and energy in recruiting the right people to join its business and actively seek out high-calibre, talented and confident individuals who can bring enthusiasm and new perspectives to its organisation.

Lazard recruits from all academic disciplines and those who have completed studies in business and economics thrive alongside classicists, mathematicians and linguists. What they share are exceptional analytical and communication skills as well as outstanding intellect, enterprise, energy and commitment.
